

Article Overview

Syrian primary distribution box accessories include standard parts, stainless steel components, wiring accessories, and mounting hardware sourced from local and international suppliers.

Types of Accessories

1. Standard Parts for Distribution Boxes These include components such as busbars, terminal blocks, screws, hinges, and protective covers. Many of these parts are made from stainless steel AISI 304, ensuring durability and corrosion resistance, and are available in bulk for industrial use . 2. Wiring and Connectivity Accessories Accessories for wiring include halogen-free power cables, splice boxes, and connectors designed for safe and efficient electrical distribution . These components are essential for both residential and industrial installations. 3. Mounting and Structural Components Distribution boxes often require brackets, enclosures, and welded pipes for secure installation. Stainless steel welded pipes and frames are commonly used to maintain structural integrity and comply with safety standards .
